

15 Areas of Focus

A Guide for Aspiring Academic & Student Affairs Professionals

Victor Moreira

This 2-hour virtual training centers on the following 15 areas of focus aspiring Academic Advising and Student Affairs professionals need to have proficient knowledge of by the end of their respective graduate program.

- 1 Student & Academic Advising Methods
- 2 Student Development Theories
- 3 Defining Student Success in Your Words
- 4 Guiding Student Success Frameworks
- 5 Time Management Strategies
- 6 Rapport and Trust Building
- 7 Your Student Advising Style
- 8 Student Engagement & Programming
- 9 Complex & Diverse Student Populations
- 10 Student Advocacy Strategies
- 11 Working with Faculty & Staff Members
- 12 Academic Retention & Intervention
- 13 AI, Technology & Social Media Usage
- 14 Data, Assessment & Reporting
- 15 Avoiding Higher Ed Burnout

Additional Details

- Guiding questions for each of the 15 areas of focus will be shared during the virtual training.
- Students should be able to comfortably address each of the guiding questions by the end of their program to demonstrate professional readiness.
- The guiding questions serve as a tool to assist students engage in structured professional exploration and experience gathering.
- The virtual training is best delivered to students at their start of their program or just before they start any fieldwork/internship experience.
- In combination with my 16+ years of experience, the 15 areas of focus and guiding questions are based on feedback and input from various Academic Advising and Student Affairs practitioners and hiring managers.

Booking

Send me an email to discuss pricing, potential virtual training dates, and any additional questions.

victorino.moreira@betterhighered.com